

Assessment of the Need and Utilization of Consortia-Based Resources in NCR Libraries: A Literature Review

Swati Babanrao Yadav¹ and Dr. Golam Ambia²

Research Scholar, Department of Library and Information Science¹

Research Guide, Department of Library and Information Science²

Sunrise University, Alwar, Rajasthan, India

Abstract: This article's primary goal is to investigate the literature that is available in relation to the utilization of consortium-based library resources. The conclusion of this essay, which discussed several consortium-based resources from both India and outside, was to determine the purpose of these resources and the reasons for implementing them in our libraries. This article discusses the several challenges and problems encountered while forming consortia. In conclusion, we may also hear the benefits and drawbacks of consortium-based resources..

Keywords: library, partnerships, resources, electronic journals, collaboration, and coordination