

A Review on Formulation and Development

Taniya D. Sawant¹, Tarnum R. Shaikh², Vaishali B. Unholi³, Aditi M. Kadam⁴, Deepak J. Kare⁵

Nootan College of Pharmacy Kavthe Mahankal, Sangli, Maharashtra, India

Corresponding Author: Taniya D. Sawant

taniasawant2121@gmail.com

Abstract: Formulation development is essential to pharmaceutical research and is required for both therapeutic and economic success by guaranteeing product quality, safety, and efficacy. The various phases of formulation development interact with other phases of the product development process, including discovery research, until and after market approval. Every drug product needs a specifically designed formulation because of the complexity of several pathways that could impact product stability, the individual characteristics of the medicinal

Keywords: Formulation Development, Pre formulation study, Evaluation, etc

