

Role of Artificial Intelligence in Modern University Library Services

Rakesh¹ and Dr. Salma Khan²

¹Research Scholar, Department of Library Science

²Professor, Department of Library Science
Sunrise University, Alwar, Rajasthan

Abstract: The integration of Artificial Intelligence in university library services has transformed the way libraries operate, offering advanced solutions for information retrieval, user engagement, resource management, and decision-making. AI technologies, such as machine learning, natural language processing, and recommendation systems, have enhanced the accessibility, efficiency, and personalization of library services. This review explores current AI applications in academic libraries, their impact on library users, challenges faced during implementation, and potential future directions.

Keywords: Artificial Intelligence, University Libraries, Academic Libraries